The blue/peaches/ as the clossest, pressing against, not for money, or rather with money stripped hard and fast away, left ice cold-broke, on the hard cold pea-sized bottom. Bouncing. Spring green and slowly yellow, fatty, and smoking. The fire of my clossest, the tallow in the flower, seeping into the gathering of flowers and towels and francey, held close, agaoinst, and sliding. We held, hard, against the frost fairs and our blocked harbors. Holding hard against the peach and lemon frame. The brown skin. Our delicious blocked harbors and non-ringing bells of the thirteen clossests huddled in the illegal hotel accross the harbor. The ice cold orange schnapps /killing/ in the frost fair. The ice-peach dragging the coldest of the wooden clossests deeper into the river, and then into the bud and the toweling. Holding hard against the frame. The high-friction tape, protecting the frame from slipping, grabbing endlessly at abrasion until it is dragged, ice-cold and peachy and wooden down hard into the ocean, the ice-ocean, the pitiable and tugged and pulling back by the friction-abrading ice, tallowing the wake. The 'n' and t and 'T' shirt and the a and the s and the nothing-nothing roses, frozen, hard, against he sandy and pea-sized bottom, hard. The smoke and soot and coal: the ashes, the dumb ashes. The tar, which was labored into the bud and the hoof. Leveraged against, but ineffectual. The flowering clossest, exploding from bud in feathers, persistent chafing. Chapped lips and burnt tongue protuding, against and forever for the soft icepeach, pea-sized, and just something-something, yet to be canonized.
